B&D Safety Consulting provides job site, or client on-site safety consulting services, employee training, jobsite/company safety audits, daily safety meetings, drug and alcohol training-testing, risk assessments, corrective action plans and much more

B&D Safety Consulting provides services to all types of general contractors, heavy & civil engineering contractors, electrical engineering contractors and to federal, state, county and city level government entities.

If you are a contractor that provides services to any government or private commercial entity you know how important you're EMR, (Experience Modification Rating) is for contract awards.

State and Federal construction contracts will typically include a requirement of a bidding contractor to provide documented proof of their EMR. Many contract or bid solicitations will require that an EMR be provided for the past three years where it will be used to develop an average. An EMR over 1.0 may, in many circumstances, disqualify a contractor from bidding on government projects. B&D Safety Consulting can help you keep that all important EMR at acceptable levels for contract awards.
